

Digital Passenger Declaration (DPD) QR code

About the DPD

The Digital Passenger Declaration (DPD) captures information from passengers seeking to enter Australia. Information provided in a DPD assists the Australian Government to manage health and safety measures.

Learn more at the Home Affairs website <https://covid19.homeaffairs.gov.au/digital-passenger-declaration>.

Before travelling to Australia, all passengers arriving by air should submit a DPD, unless they are a flight crew member.

Parents / guardians should complete a declaration for any child under 16 years of age. Anyone who is 16 years old or over should complete their own declaration.

Completing the DPD

Complete the web form using the QR code below.

Web form:

To complete the DPD, you will need:

- flight number
- a valid passport
- COVID-19 vaccination record or proof you cannot be vaccinated for medical reasons
- a negative COVID-19 test result
- destination and quarantine requirements
- travel history for the 14 days prior to departure

If you have multiple flights, you can list your first flight and the flight that lands in Australia on your declaration.

You need to show your completed DPD summary screen to airline staff at check-in and on arrival.
